THIRTY-EIGHTH YEAR NO. 42.

CEARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 1, 1915

PRICE, $1.00 A YEAR

Important Week For College.

The second most important event in connection with Cedarville College since the opening, September 19, 1914, will be the inauguration of Dr. W. R. McChesney as president on Friday, November 12.

A special program has been prepared for this event, full particulars to be made public later. It has been arranged to have Gov. Frank B. Willis for an address on that day. A number of prominent college men and noted educators are expected for the inauguration.

No Spitting On Walks.

Citizens using tobacco seem to have lost sight of the fact that it is unlawful to spit upon the sidewalk. The walks about the center of town have for months presented an unsightly appearance due to carelessness of tobacco users. There has been much comment on this condition especially from Saturday night loafers. The Board of Health at the Tuesday evening meeting ordered signs posted as a warning in that the ordinance would be enforced.

Sent By the Sun.

The towering Washington monument, solid as it is, cannot resist the heat of the sun, poured on its southern side on a midsummer's day, without a slight bending of the gigantic shaft which is rendered perceptible by means of a corner wire 174 feet long, hanging in the center of the structure, and carrying a plummet suspended in a vessel of water. At noon in summer the apex of the monument, 550 feet above the ground, is shifted by expansion of the stone, a few hundredths of an inch toward the north. High winds cause perceptible motions of the plummet, and in still weather delicate vibrations of the crust of the earth, otherwise unperceived, are registered by it.

A September Coolness

Has really come, and a little touch of frost, too, reminding us of fall apparel.

The bustling buyers and the double-quick salespeople getting at the fall goods make this great store look like a great Tennis Court, with hundreds enjoying the game—and both sides winning. Shoppers here take pleasure in the shopping game because of—

The good, airy buildings.
The excellency of light.
The roominess of aisles.
The newness and freshness everywhere.
The quality of merchandise.
The courteous salespeople.

Great "plenty" of all good things are here!

Will Erect New Garage.

The I. O. O. F. lodge has let the contract to Mr. Arthur Townsend for the new cement block building at the corner of Oakliffe and Main streets, to be occupied by Owens & Son for a garage. The building will be 40x47 and will be built for garage purposes with all necessary accommodations. The location is ideal for such a business.

The Oriental Way.
In China when the subscriber rings up exchange the operator may be expected to ask:
"What number does the honorable son of the moon and stars desire?"
"Hoh, two-three."
Silence. Then the exchange resumes:
"Will the honorable person graciously forgive the inadequacy of the insignificant service and permit this humbled slave of the wire to inform him that the never-to-be-sufficiently-censured line is busy?"

Will Open New Grocery.

Mr. Rufus McFarland, of Dayton, has moved here and will open a new grocery in the room next to Johnson's Jewelry Store. Mr. McFarland was formerly engaged in the grocery business here and sold out to locate in Dayton where he has been for more than two years. Mr. McFarland has moved into the Martha McMillan property on Xenia avenue, his household goods arriving several days ago.

CURIOUS SHOPS OF JAPAN

How Flowers, Meat, Shoes and Other Articles Are Sold in the Mikado's Land.

The shops and booths of Japan are of unending interest. Here the green grocer and fruiterer has arranged his wares till it seems as though one looked upon a great bouquet. There the flower shop blazes in brilliance and the lantern maker squats at his multi-colored tank. At the next entrance we perhaps see a man severing chicken meat from the bone, and he performs the operation as skillfully as the surgeon with his dissecting knife. Two or three paces farther on one is confronted with a typical Japanese shoe store. The newcomer is at once startled at the immense quantity of this simple footwear and the many places where it is sold, but he soon finds a solution to his query when he hears that a Japanese man annually makes away with from eight to ten pairs.

But curious things are not found in the shops alone. The green vegetable peddler carries loads heavy enough for a horse, but still has enough energy to call his wares as he goes. One marvels at those wonderful, big, snow white radishes he sells; green onions, carrots, fruits and even lotus roots dug from the muddy bottoms of ponds. Fancy yourself eating long bird's foot roots which grow in any country backyard! The Japanese consider these a toothsome article.—Christian Herald.

Direct Ohio Liquor Bill Into

GREAT THING COULD BE DONE

What the Ohio Drink Bill Would Do in Making of Buying Homes, Automobiles, and in Building Good Schools.

Columbus, O.—(Special).—It is quite generally understood by both wets and drys that the drink bill reaches the huge sum of $110,000,000 each year. This is so large that it is difficult to comprehend it. Some persons who are to figure has produced some interesting results showing what this money would do if spent in other ways instead of being wasted on drink.

This $110,000,000 would buy 55,000 homes costing $2,000 each, allowing a forty-foot front to each home. It would make a highway 418 miles long, or paving them on both sides of a street it would make a highway line from Xenia to Cincinnati.

The price of a street of homes in Columbus is about $1,000 a lot. The price of a street of homes in Columbus is about $1,000 a lot. The price of a street of homes in Columbus is about $1,000 a lot.

Death Of Baby Daughter.

Death has brought sadness and grief in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McMillan as the result of the passing away of their fourteen months old daughter, Lucille, early Tuesday morning. The little one had been frail for some time but only within the past week was its condition regarded serious when cholera infantum developed.

The parents have one other child, a son, Hankin. The funeral services were held Thursday morning from the home at ten o'clock. The services were in charge of Dr. J. L. Chesnut.

Among the relatives here to attend the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. John Rankin, Tarkio, Mo.; grandparents of the deceased; Mr. Fred McMillan, San Antonio, Texas; Rev. Jason McMillan and family, Abington, Va., who have been here for several days.

Burial took place at Masses Creek cemetery.

BIG DECREASE IN LIQUOR REVENUES

Uncle Sam's Figures Give Liquor Men the Shivers.

Cincinnati, O.—(Special).—The various state liquor organizations with headquarters in this city are much disturbed over the preliminary report of United States Internal Revenue Commissioner Osborne. This report is made to the secretary of treasury and is for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915.

The report shows that collections from distilled and fermented liquors were $23,390,403.95 less in 1915 than in 1914.

The report shows there were 12,205 fewer retail liquor dealers doing business in the country in 1915 than in 1914, and for wholesalers and retailers the slump was 16,270.

This shows that every 23 minutes of every working day last year a liquor joint shut up shop for good.

The decrease in liquor consumed in 1915 compared with 1914 equals 2.19 gallons for each man, woman and child in the country.

The liquor men are at last compelled to admit that prohibition does prohibit. The report is most encouraging to the drys and they claim it will add them in this year's Ohio campaign.

The voter who actually believes in the initiative and referendum must cast his ballot against its destruction by the amendment initiated by the wets under cover of the Constitutional Stability League.

THE REFERENDUM.

The voters this fall will have the opportunity of taking advantage of a referendum on at least two measures enacted by the last legislature. There will also be two or three amendment propositions and the time is near when each voter should study the different propositions and be prepared to exercise his duty when the several ballots are placed in his hands next month.

The first referendum we wish to call attention to is known as the McDormont liquor license law. The former law governing the license of saloons has had but a little more than a year's trial and in the main has proven a good regulatory measure and also one that has resulted in producing much revenue for the state. The old law placed absolute control in the hands of the governor who was held responsible for law enforcement.

The McDormont law takes control of the saloons from the governor and places it in the hands of two men appointed by elective county officials, the recorder, president of the county commissioners and clerk of court, from counties formed as license districts.

The object of the old law was to take the saloon out of politics and responsibility was invested in the governor. The new law places the saloons directly in politics and forces county officials to tilt for this liberal support to be elected. In liberal counties the saloons will be under the control of men who are responsible to no one other than the liberal element that elected the officials. This is the weakest place in the McDormont law and one that has caused the dry element in the cities to oppose the measure. In all our changes of municipal, state or federal government the demand of the people has been for the responsibility of law enforcement being placed in few hands as possible. The governor of this state can be depended upon to enforce such legislation but when a few individuals are crowned with this power they will go no farther than what the predominating element represents.

The McDormont law was passed by a Republican legislature but it was put through under the lash of the party whip. It is not a popular measure as can be proven by the test vote taken a few days ago when the members voted against the measure at the legislative reunion in Cincinnati. The vote was 27 favorable and 59 opposed out of a total 86. This week the Republican state committee was called together in Columbus for conference. Here it was found that sentiment existed against the McDormont law.

No better argument could be used against the law as it stands than the party that passed it would let it die a natural death by the referendum route. To date the temperance issue does not enter into any phase of the McDormont law which is purely a supposed regulatory saloon law that will not operate itself and has not been constructed so that any one will be responsible for it.

Under the circumstances, we can do no more than urge the voters to vote "No" on the McDormont referendum. Its adoption would be the means of substituting a right law in the hands of the governor for a weak law in the hands of professional politicians and officeholders.

We will have something to say on the other propositions later.

Woman's World

The Woman Who Can Both Can and Make a Good Speech.

MRS. EDNA BUCKMAN KEARNS.

That housekeeping and campaigning for woman suffrage can be wholeheartedly combined has been demonstrated by Mrs. Edna Buckman Kearns of Nassau county, N. Y. In one day Mrs. Kearns prepared both breakfast and lunch for her family, put her house to rights, canned seventeen cans of peas and six jars of raspberry jam, then went to a suffrage meeting and made such a good speech, urging woman suffrage in the interests of pure food, that she started some profitable work in the cause of votes for women.

In the course of her speech Mrs. Kearns happened to mention the cupping she had done that day, and after she closed her remarks crowded about her to ask how she came her peas. Then the idea popped into her head that here was a chance to make some money for woman suffrage.

Mrs. Kearns, one of the official changing demonstrators of the United States farm bureau, was engaged as teacher. One town after another fell in with the movement, and all through the month of August the women gave practical demonstrations of the fact that better housework and sufficient education of women are twin movements. As Mrs. Kearns said:

"We are proving the fact that suffragists can can and campaign while they can. Suffrage stands for the best way of being the best sort of woman in the house. Why, it was only a week ago that a whole household was poisoned with pea soup made from improperly canned peas."

The Brooklyn Daily News City says:

"This sound idea of an improvement on the old-fashioned 'canning bee,' where the women talked about the parson's last sermon and the parson's wife's new bonnet. When the housewives got together in the future to attend to domestic duties and to talk about politics we may expect more scientific housekeeping."

LESSON FOR OCTOBER 3

ELIJAH IN NABOTH'S VINEYARD.

LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 18:1-2. GOLDEN TEXT—By the word of your sin will you die out—Num. 32:23.

Ahab disobeyed God and failed to follow up his victory over Ben-Hadad (ch. 20:31-34). Thereupon one of the prophets resorted to a plan whereby Ahab was rebuked and also received a message that sent him to his house heavy and displeased" (v. 43). All of this needs to be borne in mind when we study Ahab's course of action related in this lesson. Learn by heart the tenth commandment; also Luke 12:15.

1. The Schemes of Men, vv. 1-13. Ahab had been king for twenty years (2 Kings 1:3). Jezebel was his summer capital, about twenty miles northwest of Samaria. The chief actors in this tragedy were Naboth, a well-to-do citizen; Ahab, a potent monarch to whom Naboth refused to sell his vineyard; Jezebel, the Lady Jezebel, Ahab's courtier, adviser and adviser of Jezebel, willing tools in the transaction; false witnesses, executioner, and Elijah, the servant of God, who confronted the monarch in his newly gained possession. Ahab was conscious in conflict with the purposes of God and with his Word. Naboth had no right to sell his vineyard (see Numbers 36:7; Lev. 25:23; also Ezek. 40:16) and sturdily stood out for his God-given rights. These land laws were rigid, but at the same time wise and beneficial. Land of yielding to God's law Ahab sulked like a petted child (v. 4) and thus again runs counter to God's Word (see tenth commandment). At this juncture Jezebel, his wife, appeals to his pride and power as the king (v. 1), and offers to procure the coveted possession. The methods of mankind whereby vast possessions are accumulated do not always bear investigation; murder and rapine, broken hearts and shortened lives, weakened bodies and stunted children can largely be traced to the sin of covetousness. The methods of mankind whereby vast possessions are accumulated do not always bear investigation; murder and rapine, broken hearts and shortened lives, weakened bodies and stunted children can largely be traced to the sin of covetousness.

2. The Sentence of God, vv. 17-20. The dead Naboth was happier than his neighbors of Jezreel, the king and queen or any of the other evil party-holders. Ahab began by breaking the first commandment (1 Kings 16:31; Deut. 5:7) and thus laid the groundwork of the whole train of evils which he and his household and his reign are famous. The elders readily obeyed the word of Jezebel and Ahab profited thereby, but now he was to hear the Word of God and it was not to be so welcome. Recently we saw Elijah set aside, following his flight from Jezebel, his life is not entirely beyond use and God now gave him a new commission, one more, task in connection with his old opponent. There is nothing indicating cowardice in Elijah's bold challenge of Ahab and there is also a suggestion of a guilty conscience in Ahab's exclamation, "Hast thou found me, O mine enemy" (v. 40)? Ahab had "come down to the vineyard of Naboth" (v. 16) to enjoy the pleasure of possessing his ill-gotten treasure only to hear again his word of doom (ch. 20:42; 21:19). It was a poor exchange Ahab made (Mark 8:31), a throne and his life in exchange for the carrying out of his own will and the possession of a vineyard. In that exact spot where Naboth had been fouly stoned the dogs would lick up the blood of the king. As is usually the case, the guilty sinner called the righteous servants of God his "enemies," yet had Ahab obeyed the word of Jehovah as so frequently spoken by Elijah he would have discovered him to be his true and best friend, not his enemy. Ahab's sin had found him out (Golden Text, Num. 32:23).

3. The Summary. Covetousness is not the mere desire for things we do not possess, but a deep longing which is willing to do wrong, to injure others, to profit by the evil deeds of others in order to come into possession. Covetousness seeks to gain at the expense of higher and better things; it is the extreme opposite of the spirit of him who "gave all."

The greatest danger of our land and the chief source of sin is covetousness. The source and fountain of covetousness is selfishness. Hence the one and only cure is in a changed heart, one consecrated to God and devoted to the service of others.

Love God, obey his Word, strive with all our ransomed powers to build up and advance his kingdom and covetousness will vanish as mist before the summer sun.

Covetousness is insatiable, it is never satisfied. It is like the drug habit, it grows by leaps and bounds. It is idolatry, effectually shutting us out of the kingdom.

JAPANESE AUCTION IS TIME
Even the Auctioneer Has Nothing to Say, and Bids Are Made in Writing.

An American Japanese auction is a kind of Oriental prayer meeting. People do not exactly wait for the spirit to move them before making a bid, but they go about as silently as if meditating in a Lenten retreat. Nobody has anything to say, or if he has he exercises a powerful restraint over his emotions and refrains from saying it. Even the auctioneer holds his tongue. Every article that he offers for sale is simply held up for inspection.

The wondrous vocabulary with which Occidental auctioneers proclaim the merits of their wares has no place in a Japanese auction room, the dramatic thrill of "going, going, gone" is never felt. Purchasers write their bids on a slip of paper and send it up by a page. There is no hurry. Everybody has time to count his change and make up his mind how much he can afford to pay.

Clifton U. P. Church Chimes.

We should neither neglect the one talent nor boast of the five. It is neither too hot nor too cold to go to church.

Mr. Ray Waddle very generously contributed to the larger supply at the Manse one day last week.

Christian Union from this on will be held at 8:30, one half hour earlier than formerly.

Dr. and Mrs. Ritchie were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Corey for six o'clock dinner last Wednesday evening.

Co-operation rather than competition should be the guiding star of Christian people.

The pastor and his wife called in twelve different homes last week.

Mr. Walter Mitchell has been working in Springfield the last six weeks.

Messrs. John and Don Kyle are building a new cattle barn and improving their shed facilities preparatory to winter.

Do not forget the Junior Rally and the speech by the famous missionary, Miss Emma Dean Anderson next Saturday at Xenia.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Corey, of Chicago, are the guests for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Corey. Mr. A. B. Corey has been a conductor on the Burlington Railroad from Chicago to St. Louis for over thirty years.

It is not lack of money from Christian people for missions that distress us so much as lack of any concern about the matter.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Finney called at the Manse last week and left some of the "where-withal" necessary to get through the coming winter.

Kenneth Ritchie spent his week end holiday in the employ of Frank Shaw for whom he worked during last summer.

The first number of the Clifton Lecture Course will come on the evening of October 8. The Robley Brothers' Quartette. Get tickets from the Band Boys.

It is possible that Emma Dean Anderson the great missionary at the Junior Rally at Xenia Saturday. When you read her articles in the papers they will mean so much more to you after hearing her.

Dr. Ritchie preached Thursday and Friday evenings in the First church, Springfield for Dr. Hams.

The Circulating Library books should all be returned next Sabbath for exchange. We would be glad to hear from some of the readers of these books in a short article for the Chimes column.

Mr. Gordon Collins had the misfortune recently to be struck in the eye with a spark from an emery wheel, laying him up for a time.

The memorizing of scripture texts in the Christian Union will be resumed next Sabbath evening. Take in review the first six under Worker's Guide.

Mr. Anderson Finney and family now residing in our bounds have returned from a visit to California.

Thank offering envelopes will be distributed by the Ladies' Missionary Society next Sabbath, the offering to be received at a later date.

The meeting of Presbytery was well attended and the program very interesting; those who had the privilege of attending enjoyed a rare treat.

Rev. Henry C. Foster D. D., Rev. Parks Jackson and Rev. Mr. McIlroy, pastorelect at Reynoldsburg were ministers in attendance at Presbytery outside the membership.
